

Bachelor of Science (Nursing Major)

- Our School of Nursing and Health Sciences is the newest school here on campus and this year we started our baccalaureate completion program.
- Some people come with a diploma degree, others have an associate degree in nursing. Either student can transfer easily into the university and complete their baccalaureate.
- This program was designed from a Christian world view and I believe that makes a very big difference in how one relates to other people and how a nurse relates to the patients and patient care situations.
- The design of the program is one day a week, most students can complete in four semesters. Students can take courses part-time, one course at a time, or they can take full-time study.
- Having a bachelor's degree in nursing offers many opportunities to expand your practice into a variety of areas that maybe you've never even considered.
- I think our program's unique because there's a lot of exploration into what that means to be a nurse, what that therapeutic presence really feels like and how we connect with people on a day-to-day level. There's no other job like this.
