

You can do it!

- The schedule was very friendly. We meet one night a week, four hours a night.
- Very rewarding, I look forward to coming here.
- And we come together and share our experiences and the cohort system is very valuable
- Being in the program with that same group of people every week for every class has been great
- The cohorts have been very meaningful to me and to my family
- A group of professionals that you're building relationships with, that you start to feel secure with in your class
- And we started with the same group of students two years ago
- The other thing was the fact that my employer assisted in tuition reimbursement
- It certainly fits my schedule, I work a forty hour week
- And with the class schedule, there's really no reason not to finish your degree
- It's only once a week, four hours
- I liked the fact that the format was that we could meet with our professors and other students and have face to face conversations
- Being challenged at different places and encouraged in other places
- It's a wonderful thing to have that group of people
